How to Sing In Church Without Feeling Embarrassed

Singing in church can be one of the most potent forms of worship. Feeling embarrassed or nervous about singing in public is a normal reaction. Here are some ideas:

- Embrace your unique voice. There are many types of voices, and just because yours is different doesn't necessarily mean that it's bad.
- There is no true right or wrong voice.
- Singing, especially in church, is about the happiness and meaning the act brings you, not necessarily about how you sound.
- Concentrate on group singing. Your voice may blend better when singing with the congregation or the choir.

" I will persevere and sing with my heart. "

Doug Gifford, our organist, welcomes parishioners anytime to come up the stairs and sing from the organ loft.

Singing for a community can be both comforting and empowering. There is nothing but love and support in the congregation.

The Pope's Intention for February – For parishes

“We pray that parishes, placing communion at the center, may increasingly become communities of faith, fraternity and welcome towards those most in need.”

Prayer for World Day of the Sick:

Give them peace of mind and heart, and renew your life and love within them. Free them from fear, worry and anxiety, ease their sufferings of mind, body, and spirit, and give them courage and hope. We pray to the Lord.

The condition of loneliness and abandonment of the sick in today's world only “takes a moment of our attention, of being moved to compassion within us, in order to eliminate it.”

Only with the help, courage, and innovation of others in a “face-to-face encounter” can we organize care for the sick in a spirit of fraternity and resilience. CCCB_CECC
